

SETTLEMENT OF MINE STRIKE UP TO
PRESIDENT WILSON SAYS SECRETARYFOUR COMPROMISE PLANS OFFERED BY
W. B. WILSON REJECTED IN SHORT
ORDER THIS MORNING

PRESIDENT WORKING ON A PLAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Secretary Wilson offered the miners and operators in conference here four compromise plans hoping to avert the coal strike called for November 1. All were rejected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Settlement of the soft coal strike threatened for November 1 will be put to President Wilson, Secretary of Labor Wilson made it known here at noon today.

Secretary Wilson appealed to the miners and operators who are in conference here to remain in session until 4 p. m. until he could lay their differences before the President. This act came about after the rejection of the four proposals made in the hope of averting the strike.

The Secretary believes he has expended all his resources in averting the strike. He appealed to the miners and operators to get together, picturing the distress and suffering that they would bring upon the country if a strike were called at this time. Over night there was hope that the Secretary's plea might bring a settlement but when the conference convened this morning two of the proposals were rejected in a little more than two hours.

The conference adjourned until this evening when the Secretary hopes to lay before the miners and operators some word from the President. Secretary Wilson has been constantly in communication with Secretary Tumulty since the beginning of the miners and operators conference here.

GOMPERS CALLS CONFERENCE OF
LABOR HEADS FOR JANUARY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—A conference of the heads of all industrial unions combined with the American Federation of Labor has been called to meet in Washington in January according to Samuel Gompers in a telegram to the Illinois Federation of Labor in convention at Peoria, Ill.

WEATHER AND FAILURE OF THE
CONFERENCE DEPRESSING TO WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—President Wilson was trying to sleep more than usual today. He rested from his efforts in endeavoring to save the industrial conference from disruption. The weather was of the gloomy variety which his physician has said makes the President feel depressed. The Doctor, it was learned here, has had much trouble in keeping the President's mind off matters since he took a hand in the industrial conference and signed several bills. The prescribed treatment—complete rest and recreation—has been seriously interfered with.

EXECUTIVE BOARD ACTIVITIES

The annual meeting of Clearfield Chapter Red Cross was held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday afternoon and along with the other business transacted the Board of Directors or Executive Committee which will direct the affairs of the chapter the coming twelve months was elected.

The meeting called to order by J. Fred Weaver and Philip B. Reed was elected to preside over the deliberations of the chapter. Miss Colby acted as secretary.

Treasurer H. S. Whiteman made a report of the moneys passing thru his hands during the past year, showing the balance on hand and on Clearfield chapter from all sources. The balance on hand amounts to over $7,000.

After the report was accepted Rev. W. W. Hartman moved that all the funds available locally under the general plan of the Red Cross be made available and a part of the common fund. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, an enthusiastic Red Cross worker, then arose and commenting upon the funds available at this time made a strong appeal for utilizing at least a part of it in securing a community nurse for Clearfield. Dr. Reeve's sentiments met with general approval.

Miss Hess of Philipsburg a state nurse with many years experience in public health work, told of the great benefits to be derived by reason of the employment of a community nurse.

Mrs. George B. Reed followed Miss Hess and stated that in her opinion a part of the fund should be utilized in paying the tuition and expenses of prospective community nurses during the three months training period required to equip a person properly for community nursing.

State Community Organizer Guyer, of Harrisburg, who happened to be present at the meeting, gave intelligent first hand information as to the advantage to be gained by any community thru the operation of a community nurse and gave several concrete illustrations which happened to come under his direct observation.

The executive committee chosen is as follows: Philip B. Reed, Col. Fred Kerr, Dr. J. W. Gordon, M. M. Overly, Charles T. Kurtz, H. B. Powell, J. Fred Weaver, A. E. Leitzinger, A. Wright Bigler, J. Frank Snyder, J. P. O'Laughlin, H. S. Whiteman, Dr. J. P. Rowles, Mahaffey, John Irwin, Curwensville; Henry B. Swoope, Madera.

A chairman and other officers will be elected by the committee at their first official meeting which will be held in the near future.

The sentiment of this meeting was almost unanimous in favor of the employment of the community nurse for Clearfield Chapter.

Mrs. Harry Bryan, of Tyrone, spent yesterday with her sister Mrs. Shara Daugherty on Reed street.

Mrs. P. F. Morgan, of Pittsburgh, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shillen at their home on Ogden avenue.

James L. McGonigal of Pottersville, was transacting business in Clearfield today.

Miss O. C. Norris and daughter, Jean of Curwensville, were shopping in town yesterday.

VICE PRESIDENCY

PRESIDENCYNot Bro't In Close Touch With
National And International Affairs As He Should Be

VERY LITTLE RESPONSIBILITY

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 24—When James A. Garfield was lying at Elberon, the question of disability was raised, and although the nation was, to all intents and purposes, for weeks, without a President capable of performing the functions of his office, the suggestion that he be superseded, even at interim, was hushed by an outburst of public indignation.

But times have changed since the early '80s, as is evidenced by the freedom with which the illness of President Wilson and the possibility that it may become necessary for the vice president to assume the functions of the presidency are now being discussed in Washington. In the entire history of the nation there has never been a situation with regard to the executive branch of the government that exactly parallels that which exists today and it is this lack of precedent that has made the present situation a subject of lively discussion and speculation in official circles.

The United States Constitution has been found adapted to every situation and contingency with which the nation, throughout its history, has been confronted. The present situation, on any turn it may take, is amply provided for in Article II, Section 6, which says: "In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President."

Mr. Marshall has had about as long experience in the vice-presidency as any man in the history of the federal government, but this experience would avail him little should he be called upon to take up the duties of chief executive of the nation. Theoretically he stands second in the executive branch of the government, but between the first and second places there is and always has existed a vast gulf. It has never been the practice for presidents to throw any of the burdens of their office upon the vice president. The relation between President Wilson and Vice President Marshall have probably been as close and cordial as those that have existed between any President and Vice President but at the same time Mr. Wilson has not to any noticeable degree altered the custom of the past by consulting the vice president when great issues were at stake.

There is no similarity between the offices of president and vice president. The presidency involves the hardest kind of work while the vice presidency involves very little work. Only two real tasks devolve upon the vice president—that of presiding over the Senate, where he is allowed to vote in case there is a tie and that of chancellor of the Smithsonian Institution. In the latter capacity he presides over the meetings of the board of regents once a month and signs a few papers that may be sent to him.

The vice president has one office room, which is located right back of the Senate chamber. It is a square high-ceilinged room, which has been occupied by many Vice Presidents in the last six years. Here he transacts his public and private business and keeps within easy reach of the Senate.

Altogether, the vice president lives amid pleasant surroundings, honored on every hand with little hard work and none of the heavy burdens of responsibility of high office. In this last named respect the vice presidency cannot be regarded as a school of experience to fit the incumbent for the great responsibilities that may fall to him by constitutional provision.

Should events so shape themselves that Mr. Marshall should be called upon to perform the duties of the presidency he probably would find that his four years of executive experience as governor of Indiana would be of more practical benefit to him than his six years as vice president of the United States.

BIG INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE IS
DISBANDEDLabor Group Quits And Wilson
Dismisses Employers, Putting Task Up To Public

PROGRAM TO BE CHANGED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Labor session from the industrial conference resulted today in its formal dissolution by Chairman Lane. At the request of the President the public group will undertake to evolve machinery to effect industrial peace.

The employers' group disbanded on being informed by Chairman Lane that the President desired the nature of the conference to be changed and the work to be carried by the public group "because the burdens of the quarrels that exist in industry fall ultimately on the public."

The reply of Gompers as to whether the labor group would make any concessions, was—

"We have withdrawn until the conditions are changed. That ends it as far as we are concerned. We are not jumping-jacks. We are not only responsible citizens, but responsible to millions of workers."

President Gompers also said that his information was that the employers' group voted against the last stand resolution of collective bargaining by a majority of one. Others said that the vote against the resolution on which labor based its break was 9 to 6.

It became known that two of these votes were cast by the representatives of the railroad managers in the employer group and that the three representatives of the farmers' organization voted as a unit for labor. The significance of these votes is seen when taken in connection with statements made at the headquarters of the A. F. of L. These were to the effect that while organized labor was signally defeated as a group in the conference, organized labor would gain strength from two distinct quarters.

It was pointed out that the conference has resulted in drawing lines of difference very clearly and that the farmers have found out that their real interests are with labor and not with the employers.

Similarly it was asserted that the common ground made by the representatives of the four great brotherhoods with the delegates of the A. F. of L. with whom the railroad brotherhoods are not yet affiliated have served to bring them much closer together.

It is asserted that there will be a great coalition between the railway men and A. F. of L.

SIGN "DRY" LAWS

Mrs. Chorpennig who was a delegate to the Eastern Convention of the W. C. T. U., has returned and gives a glowing account of it.

Clearfield came out with flying colors. The county received two banners, one for "Humane Work," Mrs. S. G. Wilson's department, and one for the "Standard of Excellence," having received five, which was more than any other county. Clearfield local attained to one, having made its twelve points, it also more than doubled its membership.

National President, Miss Anna Adams Gordon, was present, and made a fine address, and as one of three pens, which the amendment had been signed, had been presented to her, it was past around that each member might hold it in her hand and see the identical silver and beautifully embossed holder with gold pen.

The brother of our townsman, C. W. Howard, also addressed a large audience and won many encomiums.

County President Mrs. Trezize, being on Committee of Invitations for 1920, requested the Convention for DuBois, which was granted.

ROCKEFELLER HEADS CONFERENCE

By RALPH E. CONNOR
United Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—With two great labor organizations threatening to strike, the work of President Wilson's peace treaty is today in the hands of a committee headed by John D. Rockefeller, capitalist, and son of the richest man in the world.

Rockefeller began work on this program when the public group or the original national industrial conference made him chairman of a committee to develop a plan to carry out President Wilson's request that the conference be continued. Rockefeller left the hotel carrying a big stock of papers and members of the committee.

He will frame a report to be presented to the public group at an executive meeting this afternoon. Rockefeller and members of the committee, will study the plan of the national industrial conference and at the same time how to give the public's estimation.

Approximately 500,000 workmen are now striking, estimating the steel strikes at 100,000. The 400,000 men are threatening to strike in the next few days unless a settlement is reached. Rockefeller is now in the hands of Secretary Wilson of the labor group.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—With other threatening there were here today a number of labor groups are tightening their ranks for a permanent industrial public group of the national industrial conference. In a telegram to the Illinois Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, notified that a conference of industrial union heads would be called to meet in Washington at the end of the month to support for the steel strike and attempt to bring about a settlement with them are among the members of the committee.

Secretary of Labor Wilson created a committee to study the President settlement of the coal strike. The committee will report after the four compromise plans made by the President are rejected.

A committee selected by the miners and operators will also heads to plan a permanent organization for the coal industry. The real aims of this organization if successful will be to control the mines and railroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—Arthur Williams, administrator today continued his efforts to capture 12 million pounds of sugar stored in New York for the purpose of removing the present sugar shortage.

Williams learned of the sugar shortage from two brokers who did not know of the administrator. Since then he has been making sales but can find no trace of the sugar. The government could not seize the sugar for exportation.

Now we have it. Those miners who want to strike November 1st want to go rabbit hunting.

The Republican devoted about three columns of its space this week to candidates Dale, Weimer and Chase. About the only mean thing it says about any of them is that Weimer descended from a long line of Democrats in Bedford county. "Top" will have a hard time living that down, according to the prominence given it by the Republican. The editor also says his man "Friday" will make a peach of a county treasurer.

Squire Frank C. Chorpensing is again a candidate for Justice of the Peace for the borough of Clearfield. Squire Chorpensing is an able man for this important office and should be re-elected by a large majority in every ward. This is one of the offices in the borough which should be occupied by one having more than the ordinary intelligence, reason and ability. Squire Chorpensing fills the bill and every citizen should support him.

Then sometimes the don't do it, in which event, you call a drayman and entrust your package to his unsafe handling. A day, a week or a month will go around before you can find him to get your shipping receipt or bill of lading and even then nine chances out of ten he has lost it.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE

The Industrial Conference of Capital, Labor and Public is now a matter of history. The idealistic plan of President Wilson who evidently believed that the three groups could get together and divide up the world's goods in a satisfactory manner have come to naught. It has only served to cement and bind the forces of capital, bring all organized labor into a powerful national organization and force these two groups into a gigantic battle for supremacy, with the public playing the role which Belgium played in the European war. What next?

SECRETARY WILSON'S PROPOSAL

There is about as much hope for harmony in the operator-miner dispute as there is in Clearfield County Democracy. President Lewis of the miners has formulated demands which are revolutionary in character, and as a whole impossible of granting at this time. In no instance has he shown any signs of being in a conciliatory mood but blocks every move for arbitration by flatly declaring for "all or none."

Without being familiar with the text of the proposal made by Secretary Wilson it appears that the proposal made by him was none other than that the miners abide by their present contract and that a promise of material increase in wages at the expiration of the contract was given. It amounted simply to a government request that the mine workers abide by their agreement and held out the promise of a reward if they did so.

How different this procedure from that of Director of Railways Hines who, when the shopmen threatened strike, issued an order saying, "we will not talk with you if you quit work." Perhaps Mr. Lewis would not have been so out spoken had Mr. Wilson told him something to that effect. Of course it depends on what Mr. Wilson, as the government representative mechanism proposed indicated that he believes the miners should start work. This being the case he should have taken a firm stand such as that taken by Hines. If Mr. Wilson believes that the miners have something coming to them at this time his proposal should have been along the lines of their demands and in such form as would form the basis of further negotiations.

AUGHINBAUGH

The Day Tomorrow

Mrs. Sarah Aughinbaugh died of pneumonia at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Beahan, on Ogden avenue, October 19, 1919, aged sixty-five years.

She was the eldest daughter of the late Thomas Dougherty. On the twenty-ninth of February, 1876, she was united in marriage to Charles H. Aughinbaugh, who preceded her to the grave, September 2, 1890.

For the past twenty years Mr. Aughinbaugh had been a patient sufferer from rheumatism. She possessed a beautiful character, and was loved by everyone. In the face of the most severe suffering, her sweet and uncomplaining spirit bore it with a most fortitude.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Beahan, and her son Thomas Aughinbaugh, both of Clearfield. Also three sisters, Misses Beulah, Fannie Dougherty, and Miss S. J. Bonner; one brother, Sheridan Dougherty, all of this place.

Her funeral took place Wednesday morning, at St. Francis Church Rev.

SPORT NOTES

Jack Fink, the fighting Marine, who meets Johnny Wolgast at the Clearfield Driving park Exposition building, Monday evening next is not very well known in this section but the following taken from a recent issue of the Philadelphia Public Ledger will no doubt give the fans a line on the new man: Had Jack Fink, the fighting marine of League Island, known a little about the finer points of the boxing game he would have probably stopped Barney Ford, of Southwark, inside the limit in the wind-up at the Broadway A. C. last night before a crowded house.

From the first to the last round, everything went to Fink, with one exception and that was gameness. This went to Ford. The latter took hooks, jabs, jolts and everything just as strong as the marine. Although the latter inflicted all of the punishment, he tired greatly toward the close.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

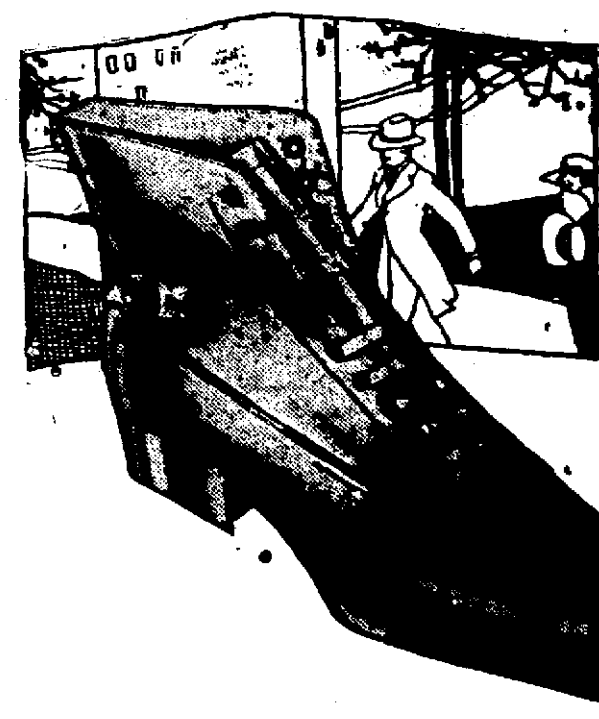

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

3 Million Dollars but-- It bought MUSIC

No finer example of courage is known to the world of science than Thomas A. Edison's work in perfecting the phonograph. The skeptics rose in full chorus when he proposed a better phonograph--an instrument "that could produce music as human as the artists who first gave it utterance."

Mr. Edison's experiments exhausted the entire field of research in sound reproduction. He built and rebuilt until his final, perfected model cost him Three Million Dollars.

And the Result?

Ask some one who attended the George Wilton Ballard recital last week. There was the public proof. Mr. Ballard sang in comparison with the RE-CREATION of his voice by the New Edison. And no one could distinguish the living voice from its RE-CREATION.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

If you love music, you will agree with last week's enthusiastic audience:—The New Edison represents Three Million Dollars well spent. The soul of song is cheap at any price. Yet it is now brought within reach of your pocketbook. The instrument used in last week's conclusive test is a duplicate of Mr. Edison's Three Million Dollar Model. It sells for $285 (in Canada, $431).

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mrs. George McClure the only daughter of Charles Hartsfelt, who resides on a farm above Ridge avenue, is confined to the house by an injury to one of her limbs. She was assisting the eldest son in hauling in some corn shocks and in getting off the load her foot caught, throwing her, with the result in injuring a limb severely.

Physicians report Curwensville people in an unusual healthy condition this fall. A few cases of hay fever and some bad colds are about all that necessitate any attention from them.

In a letter received from Paul Harley who recently removed from Curwensville to Warren, O., it is stated that he has contracted to paint a number of houses, and that he and a crew of men will have steady employment all through the winter months.

About all one hears among the local miners hereabouts is strike talk. There is considerable difference of opinion as to the advisability of a strike on November 1st and a good many do not want to see the men go out at this particular time of the year alleging that if the miners walk out, it will make hard lines in families who have enough expense to keep the flour barrel full let alone being compelled to pay a higher price for coal than they ever did in their lives before.

All industries in this neighborhood complain that common labor is hard to get and unless more men can be procured in a short time outputs will have to be curtailed and work done according to the number of men that can be secured.

The town of Curwensville is badly in want of a small planing mill and machine shop.

More than a dozen different entertainments are booked and advertised to come off in this village on Halloween night.

Considerable guessing is being indulged in at the present time as to what Curwensville's population will be when the annual census is taken in 1920. In 1915 when Charles Patton had a census taken on a wager, the town numbered something over 2700 souls, and now Patton is willing to wager that in 1920 the population will be over 3000. If one can figure from the census of school children, taken a few weeks ago counting a certain number for each family, Patton's figures will not be far from right.

Curwensville merchants are now grumbling about trade for the past two or three months claiming that business was greater than at the same time last year.

FREE ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT AT Y. M. C. A.

All the public are cordially invited to the big free entertainment tonight at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. You should come early to get a seat as all of the employees of the brick yard steel plant, silk mill and N. Y. C. railroad have been invited.

The program will consist of music, songs and reading by H. D. Minard, after which the Junior and intermediate boys will give an exhibition in racing, games and other stunts. This is free for all.

BUSIEST MAN IN THE CAPITOL—Nominally, Vice President Marshall becomes successor to President Wilson during the latter's illness. But it is upon Secretary Lansing that a myriad of new duties fall. Without advice of President Wilson he must handle all the questions of foreign policy as well as many domestic ones. In addition, he presides at the meetings of the cabinet. This photograph of Mr. Lansing was taken recently while he was seated at his desk handling his many tasks.

A Norwegian engineer has devised a process of making a practical building stone by mixing finely divided mica with just a sufficient amount of clay, or other substance of similar properties, to form a coherent mass, which is then shaped into blocks and other objects of desired shape and size. These are then fired at a temperature just high enough to fuse the mass, the resulting stone having in general the same properties as natural mica.

Lake Superior and Ireland are about the same size.

(70) Degrees Temperature -or Your Money Back!

A definite written guarantee to heat your entire home, upstairs and down, to the comfortable temperature of 70 degrees in coldest weather—that's the fair and square basis on which we sell the

PIPELESS CALORIC FURNACE
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

The CALORIC heats buildings of 18 rooms or less through one register—by utilizing the natural law of air circulation.

Over 76,000 Calorics in Use

Prove beyond question that the CALORIC heats more uniformly and more efficiently than any other system—and positively saves $\frac{1}{3}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ the fuel. This remarkable economy record is due, first—to the fact that the CALORIC has no expensive heat-wasting pipes—and secondly—to the fact that the CALORIC draws the cool air out of your rooms in the same volume that it pours warm air in. This air-circulation results also in the air throughout your home being constantly purified, with a complete change of air practically every 15 minutes.

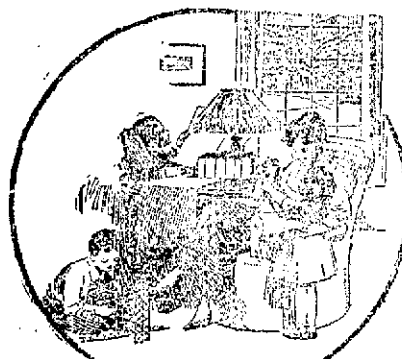

For Old Homes or New

The CALORIC may be installed in old homes as easily as in new—in one to two days' time. It is low in first cost, low in upkeep. No pipes, no plumbing and only one register. Come in and see the CALORIC, and let us explain to you its many distinct advantages. You will thank us for telling you about it.

THIS COLUMN FOR BOYS AND GIRLS AND PARENTS

Why Is a Carburetor?

BY GRANT M. HYDE

"Why do you have to adjust the carburetor of the auto, Dad?"

"To get the right mixture."

"What do you mean by a mixture?"

"Well, sonny, the gas which explodes inside a gasoline engine is a mixture of a little gasoline with a lot of air. It is the carburetor that makes the mixture."

"Where the brass feed-pipe from the gasoline tank runs into the carburetor it leads to a brass bowl for liquid gasoline. A float in this bowl keeps the bowl just level full. From the bowl the gasoline flows to a tiny nozzle so regulated by a needle valve that the gasoline just reaches to the top of the nozzle. The suction of the cylinders pulls in an air current through the carburetor's air inlet. This current passes over the nozzle and picks up the particles of gasoline just before it goes on into the cylinders.

"When the motor is running fast an auxiliary air valve opens and lets in more air so that the mixture is 'thinned' or the proportion of air increased. When the motor is too cold for the gasoline to evaporate quickly, there is a choke which reduces the air intake and enriches the mixture.

"The throttle on the steering wheel and the accelerator pedal merely open and close a valve at the top of the carburetor to regulate the amount of mixture that may be sucked into the cylinders.

"If the motor is to run best the mixture must be just right. There must be just enough gasoline and just enough air. The amount of gasoline may be regulated by slightly opening or closing the needle valve at the nozzle. The amount of air may be regulated by adjusting the spring at the air inlet. No one should touch the carburetor, however, unless he knows motors from A to Z."

DON'T SUFFER! CORN FIX

Stops the pain instantly and in 10 minutes the corn is all gone. No excruciating treatments. He soaking the foot. Safe, sure and simple. CORN FIX is wonderful. Take it to other places. At all dealers or direct from the makers. A bottle of CORN FIX 25c. The Newark, N. J.

How to Carry for Cash

BY J. H. MILLAR

A North Chicago grocer sells corn for 25 cents a can if delivered, or 19 cents a can if carried home. These 6-cent savings are worth while. The shrewd housewife believes in "Cash and Carry."

It is quite a bother to put the baby in the buggy and go down to the store for a can of corn. The lady who has no boys or girls of her own to do her errands has a hard time.

Live-Wire Boy Has Scheme

One live-wire boy, who found a dozen such ladies in his neighborhood, has worked up a good "cash and carry" business of his own. He phones them every morning, makes a list of errands to be done, and does them after school. He makes five or ten cents on each errand; with his bicycle he can do a great many each day.

By learning where to buy the best vegetables, meat, and fruit at the lowest prices, he has been able to save money for his customers and make still more money for himself.

Must Be Trustworthy

Of course many boys can find work delivering for the storekeepers themselves. But, whether for a grocer or a housewife, the errand boy must be trustworthy. Too many boys cannot be depended on.

"Since last May," says a Hardin-burg grocer, "I have had exactly a dozen different errand boys, and every one of them has been absolutely unreliable. They came to work when they felt like it. If there was a ball game, or if it was a rainy day, they didn't feel like it."

That grocer finally did find a dependable boy, and that boy has the job now. The other twelve are likely telling their mothers how hard it is to earn money.

Promises Made to be Kept

When one business man tells another that he will deliver a carload of coal, he is bound by law and by honor to do it. He has made a promise which in business is called a contract. He must keep it.

When a boy promises to deliver a can of corn, he is making a business contract, too. If he breaks his word he is doing exactly the thing that may ruin him in business twenty years later.

(Next week, some ideas that energetic girls have worked.)

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination how to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

SETTLEMENT OF MINE STRIKE UP TO
PRESIDENT WILSON SAYS SECRETARYFOUR COMPROMISE PLANS OFFERED BY
W. B. WILSON REJECTED IN SHORT
ORDER THIS MORNING

PRESIDENT WORKING ON A PLAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Secretary Wilson offered the miners and operators in conference here four compromise plans hoping to avert the coal strike called for November 1. All were rejected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Settlement of the soft coal strike threatened for November 1 will be put to President Wilson, Secretary of Labor Wilson made it known here at noon today.

Secretary Wilson appealed to the miners and operators who are in conference here to remain in session until 4 p. m. until he could lay their differences before the President. This act came about after the rejection of the four proposals made in the hope of averting the strike.

The Secretary believes he has expended all his resources in averting the strike. He appealed to the miners and operators to get together, picturing the distress and suffering that they would bring upon the country if a strike were called at this time. Over night there was hope that the Secretary's plea might bring a settlement but when the conference convened this morning two of the proposals were rejected in a little more than two hours.

The conference adjourned until this evening when the Secretary hopes to lay before the miners and operators some word from the President. Secretary Wilson has been constantly in communication with Secretary Tumulty since the beginning of the miners and operators conference here.

LABOR HEADS FOR JANUARY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—A conference of the heads of all industrial unions combined with the American Federation of Labor has been called to meet in Washington in January according to Samuel Gompers in a telegram to the Illinois Federation of Labor in convention at Peoria, Ill.

WEATHER AND FAILURE OF THE
CONFERENCE DEPRESSING TO WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—President Wilson was trying to sleep more than usual today. He rested from his efforts in endeavoring to save the industrial conference from disruption. The weather was of the gloomy variety which his physician has said makes the President feel depressed. The Doctor, it was learned here, has had much trouble in keeping the President's mind off matters since he took a hand in the industrial conference and signed several bills. The prescribed treatment—complete rest and recreation—has been seriously interfered with.

EXECUTIVE BOARD ACTIVITIES

The annual meeting of Clearfield Chapter Red Cross was held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday afternoon and along with the other business transacted the Board of Directors or Executive Committee which will direct the affairs of the chapter the coming twelve months was elected.

The meeting called to order by J. Fred Weaver and Philip B. Reed was elected to preside over the deliberations of the chapter. Miss Colby acted as secretary.

Treasurer H. S. Whiteman made a report of the moneys passing thru his hands during the past year, showing the balance on hand and on Clearfield chapter from all sources. The balance on hand amounts to over $7,000.

After the report was accepted Rev. W. W. Hartman moved that all the funds available locally under the general plan of the Red Cross be made available and a part of the common fund. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, an enthusiastic Red Cross worker, then arose and commenting upon the funds available at this time made a strong appeal for utilizing at least a part of it in securing a community nurse for Clearfield. Dr. Reeve's sentiments met with general approval.

Miss Hess of Philipsburg a state nurse with many years experience in public health work, told of the great benefits to be derived by reason of the employment of a community nurse.

Mrs. George B. Reed followed Miss Hess and stated that in her opinion a part of the fund should be utilized in paying the tuition and expenses of prospective community nurses during the three months training period required to equip a person properly for community nursing.

State Community Organizer Guyer, of Harrisburg, who happened to be present at the meeting, gave intelligent first hand information as to the advantage to be gained by any community thru the operation of a community nurse and gave several concrete illustrations which happened to come under his direct observation.

The executive committee chosen is as follows: Philip B. Reed, Col. Fred Kerr, Dr. J. W. Gordon, M. M. Overly, Charles T. Kurtz, H. B. Powell, J. Fred Weaver, A. E. Lettinger, A. Wright Bigler, J. Frank Snyder, J. P. O'Laughlin, H. S. Whiteman, Dr. J. P. Rowles, Mahaffey, John Irwin, Curwensville; Henry B. Swoope, Madera.

A chairman and other officers will be elected by the committee at their first official meeting which will be held in the near future.

The sentiment of this meeting was almost unanimous in favor of the employment of the community nurse for Clearfield Chapter.

Mrs. Harry Bryan, of Tyrone, spent yesterday with her sister Mrs. Shara Daugherty on Reed street.

Mrs. P. F. Morgan, of Pittsburgh, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shillen at their home on Ogden avenue.

VICE PRESIDENCY
NO SCHOOL FOR
PRESIDENCYNot Bro't In Close Touch With
National And International Affairs As He Should Be

VERY LITTLE RESPONSIBILITY

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 24—When James A. Garfield was lying at Elberon, the question of disability was raised, and although the nation was, to all intents and purposes, for weeks, without a President capable of performing the functions of his office, the suggestion that he be superseded, even at interim, was hushed by an outburst of public indignation.

But times have changed since the early '80s, as is evidenced by the freedom with which the illness of President Wilson and the possibility that it may become necessary for the vice president to assume the functions of the presidency are now being discussed in Washington. In the entire history of the nation there has never been a situation with regards to the executive branch of the government that exactly parallels that which exists today and it is this lack of precedent that has made the present situation a subject of lively discussion and speculation in official circles.

The United States Constitution has been found adapted to every situation and contingency with which the nation, throughout its history, has been confronted. The present situation, on any turn it may take, is amply provided for in Article II, Section 6, which says: "In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President."

Mr. Marshall has had about as long experience in the vice-presidency as any man in the history of the federal government, but this experience would avail him little should he be called upon to take up the duties of chief executive of the nation. Theoretically he stands second in the executive branch of the government, but between the first and second places there is and always has existed a vast gulf. It has never been the practice for presidents to throw any of the burdens of their office upon the vice president. The relation between President Wilson and Vice President Marshall have probably been as close and cordial as those that have existed between any President and Vice President but at the same time Mr. Wilson has not to any noticeable degree altered the custom of the past by consulting the vice president when great issues were at stake.

There is no similarity between the offices of president and vice president. The presidency involves the hardest kind of work while the vice presidency involves very little work. Only two real tasks devolve upon the vice president—that of presiding over the Senate, where he is allowed to vote in case there is a tie and that of chancellor of the Smithsonian Institution. In the latter capacity he presides over the meetings of the board of regents once a month and signs a few papers that may be sent to him.

The vice president has one office room, which is located right back of the Senate chamber. It is a square high-ceilinged room, which has been occupied by many Vice Presidents in the last six years. Here he transacts his public and private business and keeps within easy reach of the Senate.

Altogether, the vice president lives amid pleasant surroundings, honored on every hand with little hard work and none of the heavy burdens of responsibility of high office. In this last named respect the vice presidency cannot be regarded as a school of experience to fit the incumbent for the great responsibilities that may fall to him by constitutional provision.

Should events so shape themselves that Mr. Marshall should be called upon to perform the duties of the presidency he probably would find that his four years of executive experience as governor of Indiana would be of more practical benefit to him than his six years as vice president of the United States.

BIG INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE IS
DISBANDEDLabor Group Quits And Wilson
Dismisses Employers, Putting Task Up To Public

PROGRAM TO BE CHANGED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Labor session from the industrial conference resulted today in its formal dissolution by Chairman Lane. At the request of the President the public group will undertake to evolve machinery to effect industrial peace.

The employers' group disbanded on being informed by Chairman Lane that the President desired the nature of the conference to be changed and the work to be carried by the public group "because the burdens of the quarrels that exist in industry fall ultimately on the public."

The reply of Gompers as to whether the labor group would make any concessions, was—

"We have withdrawn until the conditions are changed. That ends it as far as we are concerned. We are not jumping-jacks. We are not only responsible citizens, but responsible to millions of workers."

President Gompers also said that his information was that the employers' group voted against the last stand resolution of collective bargaining by a majority of one. Others said that the vote against the resolution on which labor based its break was 9 to 6.

It became known that two of these votes were cast by the representatives of the railroad managers in the employer group and that the three representatives of the farmers' organization voted as a unit for labor.

The significance of these votes is seen when taken in connection with statements made at the headquarters of the A. F. of L. These were to the effect that while organized labor was signally defeated as a group in the conference, organized labor would gain strength from two distinct quarters.

It was pointed out that the conference has resulted in drawing lines of difference very clearly and that the farmers have found out that their real interests are with labor and not with the employers.

Similarly it was asserted that the common ground made by the representatives of the four great brotherhoods with the delegates of the A. F. of L. with whom the railroad brotherhoods are not yet affiliated have served to bring them much closer together.

It is asserted that there will be a great coalition between the railway men and A. F. of L.

HELD PEN USED TO SIGN "DRY" LAWS

Mrs. Chorpennig who was a delegate to the Eastern Convention of the W. C. T. U., has returned and gives a glowing account of it.

Clearfield came out with flying colors. The county received two banners, one for "Humane Work," Mrs. S. G. Wilson's department, and one for the "Standard of Excellence," having received five, which was more than any other county. Clearfield local attained to one, having made its twelve points, it also more than doubled its membership.

National President, Miss Anna Adams Gordon, was present, and made a fine address, and as one of three pens, which the amendment had been signed, had been presented to her, it was past around that each member might hold it in her hand and see the identical silver and beautifully embossed holder with gold pen.

The brother of our townsman, C. W. Howard, also addressed a large audience and won many encomiums.

County President Mrs. Trezize, being on Committee of Invitations for 1920, requested the Convention for DuBois, which was granted.

ROCKEFELLER HEADS CONFERENCE

By RALPH E. CONNOR
United Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—With two great strikes in the offing, the peace treaty is today in the hands of John D. Rockefeller, capitalist, and son of the richest man in the world.

Rockefeller began work on this program when the public group or the original national industrial conference made him chairman of a committee to carry out President Wilson's request that the conference be continued. Rockefeller left the hotel carrying a big stock of papers and members of the committee.

He will frame a report to be presented to the public group at an executive meeting this afternoon. Rockefeller and members of the committee, will study the report of the national industrial conference and at the same time how to give the public's estimation.

Approximately 500,000 workers are now striking, estimating the steel strikes at 100,000. 400,000 men are threatening to strike, and include 500,000 men now under contract, unless a settlement is reached. Rockefeller's conference is a direct result of the agitation by Secretary Wilson of the labor conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—With other threatening there were here today, organized labor is tightening its ranks for a permanent industrial public group of the national industrial conference to find a way to bring about a permanent industrial peace.

In a telegram to the Illinois Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, notified that a conference of industrial union heads was called to meet in Washington at 10 a. m. next Monday for support for the steel strike and attention to the conditions with them are among the matters to be discussed.

Secretary of Labor Wilson created a committee to study the President settlement of the coal strike, and after the four compromise plans made by the miners were rejected.

A committee selected by the miners and the railroad heads to plan a permanent organization for industrial peace, the strongest in the American labor movement, the real aims of this organization if carried out will be the mines and railroad.

The Republican devoted about three columns of its space this week to candidates Dale, Weimer and Chase. About the only mean thing it says about any of them is that Weimer descended from a long line of Democrats in Bedford county. "Top" will have a hard time living that down, according to the prominence given it by the Republican. The editor also says his man "Friday" will make a peach of a county treasurer.

The old gray mare isn't what she used to be. Neither is the express service or the draying service of Clearfield. The only way to get the express company to come for your packages the days is to get on the telephone and be for them to do you the honor of coming after your packages. Then sometimes they don't do it, in which event, you call a drayman and entrust your package to his unsafe handling. A day, a week or a month will go around before you can find him to get your shipping receipt or bill of lading and even then nine chances out of ten he has lost it.

The Industrial Conference of Capital, Labor and Public is now a matter of history. The idealistic plan of President Wilson who evidently believed that the three groups could get together and divide up the world's goods in a satisfactory manner have come to naught. It has only served to cement and bind the forces of capital, bring all organized labor into a powerful national organization and force these two groups into a gigantic battle for supremacy, with the public playing the role which Belgium played in the European war. What next?

How different this procedure from that of Director of Railways Hines who, when the shopmen threatened strike, issued an order saying, "we will not talk with you if you quit work." Perhaps Mr. Lewis would not have been so outspoken had Mr. Wilson told him something to that effect. Of course it depends on what Mr. Wilson, as the government representative mediator, proposed indicated that he believes the miners should start work. This being the case he should have taken a firm stand such as that taken by Hines. If Mr. Wilson believes that the miners have something coming to them at this time his proposal should have been along the lines of their demands and in such form as would form the basis of further negotiations.

SPORT NOTES

Jack Fink, the fighting Marine, who meets Johnny Volga at the Clearfield Driving park Exposition building, Monday evening next is not very well known in this section but the following taken from a recent issue of the Philadelphia Public Ledger will no doubt give the fans a line on the new man: Had Jack Fink, the fighting marine of League Island, known a little about the finer points of the boxing game he would have probably stopped Barney Ford, of Southwark, inside the limit in the wind-up at the Broadway A. C. last night before a crowded house.

From the first to the last round, everything went to Fink, with one exception and that was gameness. This went to Ford. The latter took hooks, jabs, jolts and everything just as strong as the marine. Although the latter inflicted all of the punishment, he tired greatly toward the close.

3 Million Dollars but-- It bought MUSIC

No finer example of courage is known to the world of science than Thomas A. Edison's work in perfecting the phonograph. The skeptics rose in full chorus when he proposed a better phonograph--an instrument "that could produce music as human as the artists who first gave it utterance."

Mr. Edison's experiments exhausted the entire field of research in sound reproduction. He built and rebuilt until his final, perfected model cost him Three Million Dollars.

And the Result?

Ask some one who attended the George Wilton Ballard recital last week. There was the public proof. Mr. Ballard sang in comparison with the RE-CREATION of his voice by the New Edison. And no one could distinguish the living voice from its RE-CREATION.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

If you love music, you will agree with last week's enthusiastic audience:—The New Edison represents Three Million Dollars well spent. The soul of song is cheap at any price. Yet it is now brought within reach of your pocketbook. The instrument used in last week's conclusive test is a duplicate of Mr. Edison's Three Million Dollar Model. It sells for $285 (in Canada, $431).

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mrs. George McClure the only daughter of Charles Hartsfelt, who resides on a farm above Ridge avenue, is confined to the house by an injury to one of her limbs. She was assisting the eldest son in hauling in some corn shocks and in getting off the load her foot caught, throwing her, with the result in injuring a limb severely.

Physicians report Curwensville people in an unusual healthy condition this fall. A few cases of hay fever and some bad colds are about all that necessitate any attention from them.

In a letter received from Paul Harley who recently removed from Curwensville to Warren, O., it is stated that he has contracted to paint a number of houses, and that he and a crew of men will have steady employment all through the winter months.

About all one hears among the local miners hereabouts is strike talk. There is considerable difference of opinion as to the advisability of a strike on November 1st and a good many do not want to see the men go out at this particular time of the year alleging that if the miners walk out, it will make hard lines in families who have enough expense to keep the flour barrel full let alone being compelled to pay a higher price for coal than they ever did in their lives before.

All industries in this neighborhood complain that common labor is hard to get and unless more men can be procured in a short time outputs will have to be curtailed and work done according to the number of men that can be secured.

The town of Curwensville is badly in want of a small planing mill and machine shop.

More than a dozen different entertainments are booked and advertised to come off in this village on Halloween night.

Considerable guessing is being indulged in at the present time as to what Curwensville's population will be when the annual census is taken in 1920. In 1915 when Charles Patton had a census taken on a wager, the town numbered something over 2700 souls, and now Patton is willing to wager that in 1920 the population will be over 3000. If one can figure from the census of school children, taken a few weeks ago counting a certain number for each family, Patton's figures will not be far from right.

Curwensville merchants are now grumbling about trade for the past two or three months claiming that business was greater than at the same time last year.

FREE ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT AT Y. M. C. A.

All the public are cordially invited to the big free entertainment tonight at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. You should come early to get a seat as all of the employees of the brick yard steel plant, silk mill and N. Y. C. railroad have been invited.

The program will consist of music, songs and reading by H. D. Minard, after which the Junior and intermediate boys will give an exhibition in racing, games and other stunts. This is free for all.

Be sure it is Begy's Mustarine, always in the yellow box. Thousands call it the quickest pain killer on earth—Money back if it isn't. Always in the yellow box—30 and 60 cents. S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

BUSIEST MAN IN THE CAPITOL—Nominally, Vice President Marshall becomes successor to President Wilson during the latter's illness. But it is upon Secretary Lansing that a myriad of new duties fall. Without advice of President Wilson he must handle all the questions of foreign policy as well as many domestic ones. In addition, he presides at the meetings of the cabinet. This photograph of Mr. Lansing was taken recently while he was seated at his desk handling his many tasks.

A Norwegian engineer has devised a process of making a practical building stone by mixing finely divided mica with just a sufficient amount of clay, or other substance of similar properties, to form a coherent mass, which is then shaped into blocks and other objects of desired shape and size. These are then fired at a temperature just high enough to fuse the mass, the resulting stone having in general the same properties as natural mica.

Lake Superior and Ireland are about the same size.

PIPELESS
CALORIC
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

The CALORIC heats buildings of 18 rooms or less through one register—by utilizing the natural law of air circulation.

Over 76,000 Calorics in Use

Prove beyond question that the CALORIC heats more uniformly and more efficiently than any other system—and positively saves $\frac{1}{3}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ the fuel. This remarkable economy record is due, first—to the fact that the CALORIC has no expensive heat-wasting pipes—and secondly—to the fact that the CALORIC draws the cool air out of your rooms in the same volume that it pours warm air in. This air-circulation results also in the air throughout your home being constantly purified, with a complete change of air practically every 15 minutes.

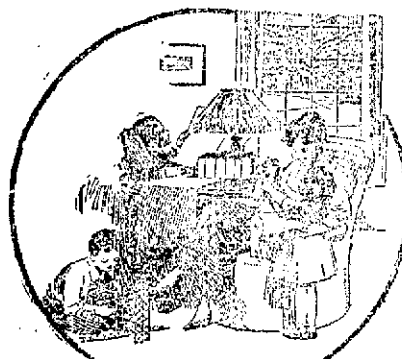

For Old Homes or New

The CALORIC may be installed in old homes as easily as in new—in one to two days' time. It is low in first cost, low in upkeep. No pipes, no plumbing and only one register. THIS COLUMN FOR BOYS AND GIRLS AND PARENTS

Why Is a Carburetor?

BY GRANT M. HYDE

"Why do you have to adjust the carburetor of the auto, Dad?"
"To get the right mixture."
"What do you mean by a mixture?"
"Well, sonny, the gas which explodes inside a gasoline engine is a mixture of a little gasoline with a lot of air. It is the carburetor that makes the mixture."
"Where the brass feed-pipe from the gasoline tank runs into the carburetor it leads to a brass bowl for liquid gasoline. A float in this bowl connected with a valve in the feed-pipe keeps the bowl just level full. From the bowl the gasoline flows to a tiny nozzle so regulated by a needle valve that the gasoline just reaches to the top of the nozzle. The suction of the cylinders pulls in an air current through the carburetor's air inlet. This current passes over the nozzle and picks up the particles of gasoline just before it goes on into the cylinders.

"When the motor is running fast an auxiliary air valve opens and lets in more air so that the mixture is 'thinned' or the proportion of air increased. When the motor is too cold for the gasoline to evaporate quickly, there is a choke which reduces the air intake and enriches the mixture.

"The throttle on the steering wheel and the accelerator pedal merely open and close a valve at the top of the carburetor to regulate the amount of mixture that may be sucked into the cylinders.

"If the motor is to run best the mixture must be just right. There must be just enough gasoline and just enough air. The amount of gasoline may be regulated by slightly opening or closing the needle valve at the nozzle. The amount of air may be regulated by adjusting the spring at the air inlet. No one should touch the carburetor, however, unless he knows motors from A to Z."

How to Carry for Cash

BY J. H. MILLAR

A North Chicago grocer sells corn for 25 cents a can if delivered, or 19 cents a can if carried home. These 6-cent savings are worth while. The shrewd housewife believes in "Cash and Carry."

It is quite a bother to put the baby in the buggy and go down to the store for a can of corn. The lady who has no boys or girls of her own to do her errands has a hard time.

Live-Wire Boy Has Scheme
One live-wire boy, who found a dozen such ladies in his neighborhood, has worked up a good "cash and carry" business of his own. He phones them every morning, makes a list of errands to be done, and does them after school. He makes five or ten cents on each errand; with his bicycle he can do a great many each day.

By learning where to buy the best vegetables, meat, and fruit at the lowest prices, he has been able to save money for his customers and make still more money for himself.

Must Be Trustworthy
Of course many boys can find work delivering for the storekeepers themselves. But, whether for a grocer or a housewife, the errand boy must be trustworthy. Too many boys cannot be depended on.

"Since last May," says a Hardinburg grocer, "I have had exactly a dozen different errand boys, and every one of them has been absolutely unreliable. They came to work when they felt like it. If there was a ball game, or if it was a rainy day, they didn't feel like it."

That grocer finally did find a dependable boy, and that boy has the job now. The other twelve are likely telling their mothers how hard it is to earn money.

Promises Made to be Kept
When one business man tells another that he will deliver a carload of coal, he is bound by law and by honor to do it. He has made a promise which in business is called a contract. He must keep it.

When a boy promises to deliver a can of corn, he is making a business contract, too. If he breaks his word he is doing exactly the thing that may ruin him in business twenty years later.

(Next week, some ideas that energetic girls have worked.)

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination how to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.
